The choice of Discriminating Men for Easter Footwear will be

HESS SHOES.

The shoe is one of the most dressy appointments of a man's wardrobe. With shoes the absence of style is very noticeable, and may spoil the effect of a good wardrobe.

The most brilliant examples of shoecraftuncommon styles-the supremest effort of our corps of designers, are exemplified in our spring and summer footwear.

Do not accept ordinary footwear for Easter. Select shoes that have individuality, character, and style, features that stamp the wearer as a man of discriminating taste. HESS is a synonym for best. Get the best for all occasions.

We have every style a man can wish for, and our assortment of sizes is so great that we pride ourselves on being able to fit all feet correctly.

Local fans had their first opportunity of seeing the Washington Union League team in action yesterday, when they played the Baltimore outlaws at New Union Park, Fifteenth and H streets northeast, winning by 8 to 3.

The game was a walkaway for the locals. If the other teams in the circuit are not much stronger than the visiting aggregation was yesterday, Washington should win the pennant in a walk.

Locals Start Well.

Washington got off to a fast start. At no time was there any real doubt as to the outcome of the battle, so well did the local twirlers handle themselves. Manager Irwin sent three of them in and put them through their paces. They showed up in fine shape, especially Speer, who held the Orioles to two hits and fanned seven in his five innings.

The Capitals did not present the line-up that will be used in the championship games, as Charlie Moran, whom Manager Irwin signed to play short, was delayed in arriving. His position was filled by throw, from which nothing resulted. Lynch, at second, covers lots of ground and has the earmarks of a good fielder, but his batting is not impressive. Clarke, at short, had lots of life in him and figured in all three of the double plays, the locals made. In McDermott, at third, Manager Irwin has a real prize package. The little fellow was full of pepper, and although he got little to do around his orner, was the whole show at the bat. His first time up he got a pass, but the
